WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—Today the capital is on tip toe awaiting developments in the senatorial clash between president Wilson and Secretary of state Robert Lansing, resulting in his brusque and immediate resignation from the cabinet, but these developments appear slow in forthcoming. At the white house the silence of the tomb is observed on this subject.

(International News Service.)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—Official Washington was astounded today by Secretary of state Lansing's resignation, following a sharp rebuke from President Wilson for having called a cabinet meeting during his illness. It was freely predicted today that there will be further sensational developments in this most amazing page in the history of the administration. The President's letter to Secretary Lansing is generally interpreted as an acknowledgment that he was unaware of what transpired during nearly four months of his illness.

Certain members of congress have already suggested that there shall be an investigation as to the conduct of the government during these months. There was also considerable curiosity as to whether or not other resignations would follow that of Mr. Lansing.

It is known that Secretary Lansing has not always been the primer mover in the calling of cabinet meetings, but that he has simply acted as the ranking member of the cabinet, often calling the meetings at the suggestion of other members. During the coal strike, it was distinctly understood at the white house that the meetings were called at the request of Secretary of Labor Wilson. At other times it has been understood that other members desired a cabinet meeting and it was called by Mr. Lansing at their request. That Secretary Lansing split with the president at the Paris peace conference and subordinated himself to the president's wishes was well known in Washington. For some time Mr. Lansing had been expected to resign, but he had held on to his post through loyalty to the president.

There was a wide division of opinion as to the right of the president to rebuke Mr. Lansing today, and while many of his staunch supporters declared that it was simply the climax of a personal difference there were others who were bitter in their denunciation of the President's action. Representative Porter, chairman of the foreign affairs committee of the house, declared "it is an infernal outrage."

Under secretary Frank Polk was most prominently mentioned today as the successor of Secretary Lansing. At the white house this morning it was stated that there would be a cabinet meeting "very soon" at the white house, and that the president would preside. Secretary Tumulty declared that the President's letter spoke for itself and regardless of any inference which might be drawn he would refuse to comment.

LONDON HEARS NEWS
(International News Service.)
LONDON, Feb. 14.—News of the resignation of Robert Lansing, the American secretary of state, arrived in London too late for comment in the morning newspapers. The Daily News printed a brief dispatch stating that Lansing was out.

CORRESPONDENCE BETWEEN PRESIDENT AND LANSING

The following correspondence was given out at the White House:

The White House,
Washington, Feb. 7, 1920

"My Dear Mr. Secretary:

"Is it true, as I have been told, that during my illness you have frequently called the heads of the executive departments of the government into conference? If it is, I feel it my duty to call your attention to considerations which I do not care to dwell upon until I learn from you yourself that this is the fact. Under our constitutional law and practice, as developed hitherto no one but the President has the right to summon the heads of the executive departments into conference, and no one but the President and the Congress has the right to ask their views or the views of any one of them on any public question.

"I take this matter up with you because in the development of every constitutional system, custom and precedent are of the most serious consequence, and I think we will all agree in desiring not to lead in any wrong direction. I have, therefore, taken the liberty of writing you to ask you this question, and I am sure you will be glad to answer.

"I am happy to learn from your recent note to Mrs. Wilson that your strength is returning.

"Cordially and sincerely yours,

"WOODROW WILSON,

"Hon. Robert Lansing, Secretary of State."

"The Secretary of State

"Washington, Feb. 9, 1920

"My Dear Mr. President:

"It is true that frequently during your illness I requested the heads of the executive departments of the government to meet for informal conference.

"Shortly after you were taken ill in October certain members of the cabinet, of which I was one, felt that, in view of the fact that we were denied communication with you, it was wise for us to confer informally together on inter-departmental matters and matters as to which action could not be postponed until your medical advisers permitted you to pass upon them. Accordingly, I, as the ranking member, requested the members of the cabinet to assemble for such informal conference; and in view of the mutual benefit derived from the practice was continued. I can assure you that it never for a moment entered my mind that I was acting unconstitutionally or contrary to your wishes, and there certainly was no intention on my part to assume powers and exercise functions which under the constitution are exclusively confided to the President.

"During these troublous times, when many difficult and vexatious questions have arisen and when in the circumstances I have been deprived of your guidance and direction, it has been my constant endeavor to carry out your policies as I understand them and to act in all matters as I believed you would wish me to act. If, however, you think that I have failed in my loyalty to you and if you no longer have confidence in me and prefer to have another conduct our foreign affairs, I am, of course, ready Mr. President, to relieve you of any embarrassment by placing my resignation in your hands.

"I am always, faithfully yours,

"ROBERT LANSING"

"The White House,

"Washington, Feb. 11, 1920

"My Dear Mr. Secretary:

"I am very much disappointed by your letter of February 9 in reply to mine asking about the so-called cabinet meetings. You kindly explain the motives of those meetings and I find nothing in your letter which justifies your assumption of presidential authority in such a matter. You say you 'felt that, in view of the fact that you were denied communication with me, it was wise to confer informally together on inter-departmental matters and matters as to which action could not be postponed until my medical advisers permitted me' to be seen and consulted, but I have to remind you, Mr. Secretary, that no action could be taken without me by the cabinet, and, therefore, there could have been no disadvantage in awaiting action with regard to matters concerning which action could not have been taken without me.

"This affair, Mr. Secretary, only deepens a feeling that was growing upon me. While we were still in Paris, I felt, and have felt increasingly ever since, that you accepted my guidance and direction on questions with regard to which I had to instruct you only with increasing reluctance, and since my return to Washington I have been struck by the number of matters in which you have apparently tried to forestall my judgment by formulating action and merely asking my approval when it was impossible for me to form an independent judgment because I had not had an opportunity to examine the circumstances with any degree of independence.

"I therefore, feel that I must frankly take advantage of your kind suggestion that if I should prefer to have another to conduct our foreign affairs you are ready to relieve me of any embarrassment by placing your resignation in my hands, for I must say that it would relieve me of embarrassment of feeling your reluctance and divergence of judgment, if you would give your present office up and afford me an opportunity to select someone whose mind would more willingly go along with mine.

"I need not tell you with what reluctance I take advantage of your suggestion, or that I do so with the kindest feeling. In matters of transcendent importance like this the only wise course is a course of perfect candor, where personal feeling is as much as possible left out of the reckoning.

"Very sincerely yours,

"WOODROW WILSON.

"Hon. Robert Lansing, Secretary of State."

"The Secretary of State

"Washington, Feb. 12, 1920

"My Dear Mr. President:

"I wish to thank you sincerely for your candid letter of the 11th, in which you state that my resignation would be acceptable to you, since it relieves me of the responsibility for action which I have been contemplating and which I can now take without hesitation, as it meets your wishes.

"I have the honor, therefore, to tender you my resignation as Secretary of State, the same to take effect at your convenience.

"In thus severing our official association I feel, Mr. President, that I should make the following statement which I had prepared recently and which will show you that I have not been unmindful that the continuance of our present relations was impossible and that I realize that it was clearly my duty to bring them to an end at the earliest moment compatible with the public interest.

"Ever since January, 1919, I have been conscious of the fact that you no longer were disposed to welcome my advice in matters pertaining to the negotiations in Paris, to our foreign service, or to international affairs in general. Holding these views, I would, if I had consulted my personal inclination also have resigned as Secretary of State and as a commissioner to negotiate peace. I felt, however, that such a step might have been misinterpreted both at home and abroad, and that it was my duty to cause you no embarrassment in carrying forward the great task in which you were then engaged.

"Possibly I erred in this, but if I did it was with the best of motives.

"When I returned to Washington in the latter part of July, 1919, my personal wish to resign had not changed, but again I felt that loyalty to you compelled me to defer action, as my resignation might have been misconstrued into hostility to the ratification of the treaty of peace or at least into disapproval of your views as to the form of ratification.

"I therefore remained silent, avoiding action with regard to matters concerning which action could not have been taken without me.

"This affair, Mr. Secretary, only deepens a feeling that was growing upon me. While we were still in Paris, I felt, and have felt increasingly ever since, that you accepted my guidance and direction on questions with regard to which I had to instruct you only with increasing reluctance, and since my return to Washington I have been struck by the number of matters in which you have apparently tried to forestall my judgment by formulating action and merely asking my approval when it was impossible for me to form an independent judgment because I had not had an opportunity to examine the circumstances with any degree of independence.

PLEA FOR HOUSING OF FARM SCHOOL'S VISITORS IS MADE BY ALBANY BOARD

Chamber of Commerce Requests
List of All the Available
Accommodations

500 ARE EXPECTED TO ATTEND THE SESSIONS

Will be Good Advertising for the City, Chambers' Statement Says.

A plea for housing accommodations for the 500 farmers who are expected to attend the tractor school here from March 1 to 6 inclusive, today was issued by the Albany Chamber of Commerce. The statement follows:

In Thursday's edition of the Albany-Decatur Daily, notice of the holding of a Tractor's school under the supervision of Professor Nichols of Alabama Polytechnic Institute in the City of Albany during the week of March 1st to March 6th was announced. It was predicted in this publication that there would be five hundred farmers in the city during this week and the Albany Chamber of Commerce has other information which makes it believe that this predicted attendance is not over estimated. The Counties of Jackson, Madison, Limestone, Morgan, Lawrence, Colbert, Lauderdale and Cullman will be represented by their County Farm Agents, and by many farmers as these agents are able to bring to this school. Thousands of farmers throughout the Tennessee Valley are beginning to use improved methods of farming, and are anxious to learn about the operation of tractors, and the Board of Directors of the Albany Chamber of Commerce believe that large numbers of farmers throughout the Tennessee Valley will attend this school of instruction, and that it will result in much good to every farmer who does attend.

Great Advantage
The holding of the school at Albany is a great advantage to the City, and will do much to put the merchants and business men in touch with the farmers and the opportunity should not escape our merchants of advertising and boosting Albany during this week.

Albany is handicapped in not having a place to keep its guests during this week, and this is the only serious question the City has to contend with. It is our duty to take care of these students at this school, and as the hotel accommodations are inadequate for this purpose, the Board of Directors of the Albany Chamber of Commerce are undertaking to provide sleeping quarters for every one who attends this school.

It is not a question of being able to pay for a place to sleep, but it is a question of being able to obtain the place. Therefore, the Board of Directors respectfully requests that each citizen of this City who can accommodate one or more of these representatives during the week of March 1st to March 6th, to please notify the Board of Directors how many of these representatives he will care for.

This call is made on boarding houses, sleeping apartments, cafes, and rooming houses, and every citizen in this City who has an available place, will be expected to make it known to the Board of Directors.

Notify Directors
Each member of the Board of Directors of the Albany Chamber of Commerce has agreed to take care of two representatives during the week, free of charge. The Y. M. C. A. will probably be able to take care of twenty or twenty-five, and the Board of Directors feels like that every citizen owes the City the duty of taking care of as many of these representatives as he can conveniently. Therefore, you will please notify the Board of Directors by mail just how many of these representatives you can

RAILROAD MEN WILL DEFER STRIKE UNTIL LINES ARE RETURNED

(International News Service.)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—The railroad workers have accepted the principles of President Wilson's proposal for a wage tribunal to settle their wage demands, it was learned at the white house today, following the delivery of the answer to the president. The workers asked for additional information as to the authority of the proposed commission, and have made counter proposals. One of these was that the decision of the board be retroactive.

(International News Service.)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—There will be no general strike of railroad workers during the period of government control. This is the answer the railroad employees will make today to President Wilson's decision on the demands for increased wages.

Representatives of the railroad workers have agreed that there shall be no general strike during the period of government control. They are afraid of unauthorized strikes and they are preparing to take a strike vote immediately in preparation for action when the railroads are returned to their private owners.

The reply of the workers, along with the president's decision, was expected to be made public this afternoon.

Get Morgan County Out of the Mud

VOTE FOR THE GOOD ROADS BOND ISSUE

VOTE "YES" IN MONDAY'S ELECTION

Every Morgan county elector should vote "yes" in Monday's election, which also means that every Morgan county elector should go to the polls and vote.

A big vote in North Alabama is necessary in order that an expected majority against the good roads amendment in South Alabama may be overcome.

Furthermore, if this county goes on record overwhelmingly in favor of better highways it will have made for itself an enviable name, and will stand before the world as progressive and alert.

Of the many elections to be held this year, that of Monday is the most important. Its result will have a greater bearing upon the future of the state, than would the election of a democratic president. For, unmistakably, Alabama's greatest need today is a system of modern thoroughfares.

Owing to the wide publicity campaign that has been conducted the voters should by this time be thoroughly familiar with the situation. The majority of them do know that the Alabama Highway association, composed of patriotic men from various sections of the commonwealth, devised a plan whereby the state could secure its portion of the federal roads money without increasing the burden of taxation. This plan was to issue bonds from year to year as the need might arise in amounts sufficient to match the government's money dollar for dollar. Interest on these bonds was to be met by an increased automobile tax, which would also provide a sinking fund for their retirement. The automobilists readily sanctioned the plan, for they realized that the added cost of the privilege license was more than offset by the reduced repair bill, and that in addition the usefulness of their machines would be greatly enhanced.

In order that this plan may be put into practical operation, it is necessary to amend the constitution of the state—and that is what the voters are asked to do.

It would be a cruel joke if the state whose senior senator secured the enactment of a law whereby the national government would do its part toward the maintenance of post roads should itself be compelled to contribute to this fund without receiving a penny from it. And this is what will happen if the amendment is defeated.

By all means vote "Yes," and do all that you can to make the majority a big one.

LANSING'S RESIGNATION FROM THE CABINET

Robert Lansing is the second secretary of state to resign from the Wilson cabinet. The first was William Jennings Bryan, who remained a member of the official family but a short while. In both instances, the resignations were due to practically the same cause—the failure of the secretary of state to recognize that he had no real authority of his own and that he held office merely as part of the machinery for the execution of the policies of his superior.

It was natural, that Mr. Bryan should withdraw. He had so long been accustomed to doing as he pleased and had so long been convinced that his own ideas were superior to those of others that it was inevitable that there should be a clash of wills. In the case of Mr. Lansing, however, it was different. He was elevated to high position largely because of his training for diplomatic work and the current belief that he would be content to automatically perform his duties without aspiring to run the government. It was the first time that a man had been placed in charge of so important a post because of his supposed fitness, and not for political reasons. That he developed too much initiative spoils the theory that a good underling can be depended on to remain in the same state of humility when he becomes a higher up. That trait of human nature which inevitably results in the exaggeration of ego in direct ratio with responsibility and authority came to the fore, and the result was that Mr.

Lansing was asked to quit. It is unfortunate that the secretary of state and his chief should have clashed at this particular time, when signs of discord in the cabinet are becoming more apparent. The lack of harmony in the democratic party is already sufficiently pronounced, and for political reasons it would have been better if Mr. Lansing had been content to do the diplomatic chores of the nation and leave matters of policy to Mr. Wilson.

The charge that Mr. Lansing had assembled the cabinet without authority is on its face merely a technical one. He did this with the knowledge and consent of Joseph T. Murphy, secretary to the president. As a common-sense proposition, the move was a commendable one, for in the emergency it was up to somebody to see that the old ship of state continued to function.

Summed up, Mr. Lansing had to get out because he was unwilling to go on and play the role of a subordinate.

Take care of, so that a list can be furnished to the representatives of the school, and arrangements for taking care of these representatives can be concluded by the 20th of this month.

It would be a great boost and advertisement for this City, if it would agree to take care of the five hundred delegates without cost.

Chenault Writes More Than a Half Million Insurance

The annual statement of the Gulf Coast Life Insurance company appearing in this issue shows remarkable growth in a short period of eight years. In 1915 when W. M. Chenault, general agent, entered upon the work here the insurance in force by his company amounted to $1,023,203. The last statement shows it to now have $5,320,125 in force and of this amount Mr. Chenault has written over a half a million in between three and four years.

No Power to Sell Ships, He Declares

(International News Service.) WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—"The shipping board is without authority or power" to sell the former German ships seized in American ports under the joint resolution of congress of May 12, 1917, Senator Ashurst declared in the senate today.

FOR SALE

160 acres on pike road, 7 miles from Athens, and 8 miles from Albany-Decatur. 140 acres of this farm is LEVEL, FERTILE, HEAVY RED LAND, in cultivation that will make from half to a bale of cotton to the acre; the other 20 acres is bottom land in woods. There are three dwellings, three barns, three wells. It is 1 1/2 miles from CHURCHES, HIGH SCHOOL, STORES and GIN. IT HAS NO ROCKS, HILLS OR GULLIES. The entire farm is fenced. Public road is one line, pike road another line. THIS IS A COTTON, CORN, CLOVER and GRAIN FARM. We offer this to the INVESTOR as a safe and profitable investment, and to the man who want a HOME as the kind of land to "tie to." The price is only $100.00 per acre, the terms are EASY, the interest LOW. BETTER SEE IT and let it speak for itself.

We will help to finance any farm land we offer for sale, and are prepared to make farm loans at as low rate of interest as anyone.

Fordson Tractor

Power to spare for all farm work —does the work of 6 to 12 good mules—easily handled by one man

When Spring weather begins you will be ready for big business. The speed of Power Farming enables you to take advantage of the good weather and overcome the serious delays caused by the heavy Spring rains. With the Fordson Tractor there is no getting behind with your work.

You should have a Fordson to do your plowing, your discing, your planting and many other kinds of farm work. It will solve your labor problems and enable you to make more money—bigger profits—than ever before. It means fine crops—quality, larger yields—quantity, as well as greater pleasure and satisfaction for your efforts.

ORDER A FORDSON NOW. Factory demands will be unusually great this year, and delay may mean heavy losses to you.

REMEMBER—The Fordson Power Farming Unit can be operated by one man. This unit consists of the Oliver Plow, the Dunham Cult-Packer, Roderick-Lean Automatic Disc Harrow, Smoothing Harrow and Amsco Tractor Seed Drill.

ROPER TO STAY IN RACE FOR OFFICE

The recent election of S. E. Roper, as system federation chairman of all shop crafts of the Louisville and Nashville system and also his reelection as System chairman of the Sheet Metal workers, will not change his plans as to his candidacy for the office of tax collector of Morgan county. This was learned on questioning Mr. Roper as to whether his political plans were changed in view of his added responsibilities in labor circles.

Mr. Roper said that at the Birmingham convention which opened Monday and closed Thursday night, it was pointed out that as the primaries did not open until May, and as the newly elected tax collector did not assume his duties until October one year, he would have nearly twenty months in which to serve his brother craftsmen, and in case of his election he felt that he could resign with propriety as by October two years he would have rounded out several years official service and that some other one of the workers ought to be trained in the official tasks of the brotherhood.

Mrs. Flummer to Be Buried Sunday

A More Sanitary and Convenient Kitchen Cabinet

Constructed along lines which make for complete sanitation, and cleanliness the "Kitchen Maid" with smooth, flat surfaces and rounded inside corners, has won its place among housewives, as the most sanitary of all Kitchen Cabinets.

The neat white enameled interior of the "Kitchen Maid" so clean and trim is easy to keep so because of the rounded inside corners and perfectly flat surfaces. The exterior surfaces are also smooth and flat. Only a rub or two with a damp cloth makes them clean and bright as new.

And convenience! Every convenience a woman desires in a Kitchen Cabinet is built into the "Kitchen Maid" just where it will serve most efficiently. The Pastry Compartment, the regar Bin—these and other features are movable Flour Bin, the Automatic Sugar Bin at their best in this cabinet.

The Five Fig Features

- (1) Smooth Surfaces—all surfaces are finished perfectly smooth. Easy to clean.
- (2) Round Corners—Inside corners and outside edges are rounded to assure cleanliness.
- (3) Pastry Compartment. Keeps cakes and delicate pastries fresh and tasty for days.
- (4) Removable Flour Bin—A unit in itself. So easily removed for cleaning. A patented distributor sifts flour evenly and fine.
- (5) Automatic Sugar Bin—Absolutely moist proof. A tip forward opens—a tip backward closes the lid. No valves to clog.

See this Superior Kitchen Cabinet at Our Store.

Call and inspect the models we show in snowy white enamel or beautiful golden oak. Our easy payment plan permits you to use the "Kitchen Maid" while you are paying for it.

Demands for Farm Lands:

The list below are inquiries which we have from correspondents throughout the country, regarding farm lands in the South.

Manlius, New York, Jan. 24, 1920

Dear Sir:

I am very desirous of locating in the South where the climate is ideal the year round, good water and the land suitable for general farming. I am a farmer, dairyman, poultryman and breeder of registered Holstein-Friesian cattle and want to continue along the same lines. I am obliged to get out of the northern winters and would like to locate in some place where the future looks good.

(Signed)

CLARENCE F. HUNT.

Mr. P. M. Phalen, of Auburn, N. D., advises there is a lady, her four children under ten years of age and her brother who want a home in the South and they have some money.

Mr. C. C. Hobson, 1510 Hinkley Avenue, Cedar Rapids, Iowa, wants to be fully informed regarding general farming and live stock raising possibilities in the South.

Mr. Karl A. Nielsen, Goodwell, Okla., desires full information in regard to the South.

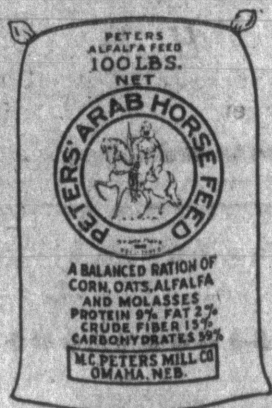

Mr. R. A. Wood, Effingham, Illinois, advises that he is interested in farming, especially the dairy part of it, and would like full information about lands in the South as he is planning to take a trip there shortly with the view of locating.

If you have farm lands for sale, we request that you either take it up with the above parties direct, or list it with us, and we will see that your interests are taken care of.

40 acres of good level land, five and a half miles out on Moulton Pike, 26 acres cleared and in cultivation, 14 acres very good timber. Price—$600.00 per acre. $600.00 to $800.00 cash and terms on balance. This looks like a bargain to us, when we know of incidents where mountain land fourteen miles from town have sold recently for $100.00 and $125.00 per acre.

SILVER TEA

ST. JOHN'S GUILD, HOSTESS
At the residence of Mrs. W. A. Bibb, St. John's Guild entertained at a Silver Tea from 3-5 Friday afternoon. The home was made spring like, with decorations of blooming plants. Guests were met at the door by the president of the Guild, Mrs. H. B. Beard, and ushered to the dining room by Mrs. F. F. Tidwell. The dining table had been charmingly arranged for the occasion, Misses Penick and Lile presiding. They were assisted in serving tea by Mrs. Harbin Miller and little Misses Eliza Lee Miller and Louise Neill, who served confections.

Miss Mollie B. Merriwether of Nashville will arrive Monday to be the guest of Miss Kathryn Thomas.

Mrs. F. M. Roberts who visited Mrs. Virginia Graham has returned to Sheffield. During her visit, she was the recipient of many social attentions.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Harris have returned from Jacksonville and other points in Florida where they spent the greater part of the winter.

Miss Etta Eubanks is home again after spending a few months in Florida.

Home Druggists and Doctors Take and Recommend No. 40 for the Blood

Mr. Theodore Gerke of The Gerke Drug Co., states: "A year or so ago my wife came into the drug store and said she was going to take a blood medicine. She looked over the kinds we had on the shelf and decided to try Number 40. After taking it a while she gave it to our son and one day I was complaining of that tired feeling and she said, 'I will dose you on 40,' and she did, and it helped me so much that I have been recommending it to my customers and buy in gross lots." With scarcely an exception, druggists in Evansville and this vicinity unanimously endorse and recommend Number 40. An old and very successful physician remarked to me a short time ago on the street, "I am taking Number 40. It will prolong a man's life." Made by J. C. Mendenhall, 40 years a druggist, Evansville, Ind.

ing any comment on the frequent reports that we were not in full agreement. Subsequently your serious illness, during which I have never seen you, imposed upon me the duty—at least, I constructed it to be my duty—to remain in charge of the department of state until your health permitted you to assume again full direction of foreign affairs.

"Believing that this time had arrived, I had prepared my resignation, when my only doubt as to the propriety of placing it in your hands was removed by your letter indicating that it would be entirely acceptable to you. "I think, Mr. President, in accordance with the frankness which has marked this correspondence and for which I am grateful to you, that I cannot permit to pass unchallenged the imputation that in calling into informal conference the heads of the executive departments I sought to usurp your presidential authority. I had no such intention, no such thought. I believed then and I believe now that the conferences, which were held, were for the best interests of your administration and of the republic, and that belief was shared by others whom I consulted. I further believe that the conferences were proper and necessary in the circumstances and that I would have been derelict in my duty if I had failed to act as I did.

"I also feel, Mr. President, that candor compels me to say that I cannot agree with your statement that I have tried to forestall your judgment in certain cases by formulating action and merely asking your approval when it was impossible for you to form an independent judgment because you had not had an opportunity to examine the circumstances with any degree of independence. I have, it is true, when I thought a case demanded immediate action, advised you what, in my opinion, that action should be, stating at the same time the reasons on which my opinion was based. This I conceived to be a function of the secretary of state and I have followed the practice of the past four years and a half. I confess that I have been surprised and disappointed at the frequent disapproval of my suggestions, but I have never failed to follow your decisions, however difficult it made the conduct of our foreign affairs.

"I need hardly add that I leave the office of the secretary of state with only good will toward you, Mr. President, and with a sense of profound relief.

"Forgetting our differences and remembering only your many kindnesses in the past, I have the honor to be, Mr. President,

"Sincerely yours,
"(Signed) Robert Lansing."

"My Dear Mr. Secretary:

"Allow me to acknowledge with appreciation your letter of February 12. It now being evident, Mr. Secretary, that we have both of us felt the embarrassment of our recent relations with such other, I feel it my duty to accept your resignation, to take effect at once; at the same time adding that I hope that the future holds for you many successes of the most gratifying sort. My best wishes will always follow you, and it will be a matter of gratification to me always to remember our delightful personal relations.

WHY THIS IS A REMARKABLE SALE---

These suits, all of them, fresh spring style. Come from a manufacturer whose garments are made to give best service.

The styles are conservative enough to be worn for more than one season. In keeping with the quality of material and workmanship. These spring suits feature the narrow shoulder, light sleeves and closely fitted waist line. Skirts are little wider and quite a bit shorter. The link fastening used on many of the suits and coats give an opportunity for displaying pretty frilly blouses. Navy blue tricotine is the favorite.

Matlock's showing complete line new spring dry goods. New spring suits for men and boys. New spring shoes and slippers for women, men and boys and misses. Newest styles in women's and men's hats.

KEPT HER AWAKE

The Terrible Pains in Back and Sides. Cardui Gave Relief.

Marksville, La.—Mrs. Alice Johnson, of this place, writes: "For one year I suffered with an awful misery in my back and sides. My left side was hurting me all the time. The misery was something awful."

I could not do anything, not even sleep at night. It kept me awake most of the night. I took different medicines, but nothing did me any good or relieved me until I took Cardui.

I was not able to do any of my work for one year and I got worse all the time, was confined to my bed off and on. I got so bad with my back that when I stooped down I was not able to straighten up again. I decided I would try Cardui. By time I had taken the entire bottle I was feeling pretty good and could straighten up and my pains were nearly all gone.

I shall always praise Cardui. I continued taking it until I was strong and well. If you suffer from pains due to female complaints, Cardui may be just what you need. Thousands of women who once suffered in this way now praise Cardui for their present good health. Give it a trial.

RAILROAD ADMINISTRATION

PERSONAL

The many friends here of S. A. Kirkland, formerly a valued employee of the Daily, will be glad to learn that he has so far regained his health as to be able to return to his home at Florence.

S. H. Malone, district manager for North Alabama of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., entertained the representatives of his company yesterday. This was a conference and "get-together" meeting for the year. The record of this company for 1919 was one showing much progress.

P. R. Hudson, who has been ill the past week with influenza, is much improved.

W. R. Smith was able to be out yesterday after several weeks illness.

Capt. T. E. Grafton, of the Limestone-Morgan Bridge company, is in Rome, Ga., for the week-end.

William O. Porter, who has been ill at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Porter, is very much improved, and returns to Birmingham today.

B. A. Turner, treasurer of the Malone Coal, Grain & Motor Co., returned last night from Nashville where he attended the automobile show in that city. Mr. Turner says it was a big success and the automobile business in that city is booming.

A chicken supper will be given on Thursday evening at the Y. M. C. A. by the First Ward School improvement, for the benefit of the First Ward school.

YOUR SLUGGISH

IF your liver works all right, the rest of your inside works are apt to be all right—otherwise not so. Then look after your liver, see that it runs "smooth and steady"; that it doesn't get clogged up or ship a cog and throw the whole machinery out of gear.

Dr. Thacher's Liver and Blood Syrup

Is a Liver Regulator, a Blood Purifier, a Laxative and a Tonic of 67 years standing; the prescription of an old family doctor of large practice; a standard remedy for the whole family from the children to the grand parents.

"About three years ago, I was all run down in health, weighed only 104½ lbs., and getting worse every day. I began the use of DR. THACHER'S LIVER AND BLOOD SYRUP, and today I am thankful to say that I'm in perfect health, and weigh 135 lbs., and attribute my good health to the use of that most wonderful medicine—DR. THACHER'S LIVER AND BLOOD SYRUP. My husband joins me in recommending this great tonic—Mrs. C. E. Chadwick, Ala.
